

Philom Bios Australia is currently testing a range of new inoculant technologies in extensive Australia-wide field research trials. Projects include new nitrogen inoculant formulations for legume crops, phosphate-solubilizing inoculants to make better use of soil and fertiliser phosphate and biocontrol inoculants to control a range of root and crown diseases.

Our small plot and split paddock trial locations are listed below. Please contact us if you would like a tour of the research trial locations in your area:
