Philom Bios Inc. Communicates Court Decision

SASKATOON, SK – Stemming from a legal dispute originating in 1997, Philom Bios Inc. reports that the Court of Queen’s Bench of Alberta has rendered its decision on the claim of Dow AgroSciences Canada Inc. (“Dow”) relating to inventories of certain Philom Bios products which had passed their expiry date. The Court has rendered judgment in favor of Dow in the sum of $944,319 plus interest and costs and dismissed the Philom Bios counterclaim.

The Company, while disappointed by this outcome, is presently reviewing the Court’s ‘reasons for judgment’ before determining its next course of action. Upon formal ‘entry of judgment’, which has yet to occur, the Company will have 20 days to decide on filing an appeal of this matter.

Calvin Sonntag, President/CEO commented, “It’s important to note that irrespective of this decision, absolutely nothing has changed as it relates to our commitment to serve the needs of our farm customers and retail and distribution partners by delivering high-value inoculants.”
